Good afternoon Monica,

I have a few notes that might be of interest to EFED from today's meeting with the Tebuconazole taskforce. First, I encourage you to look at the attached slides, as they contain information about the taskforce's plans for several eco and fate studies in the DCI (also attached). Additionally, we (PRD) captured these points in our personal notes:

- Not doing higher tiered pollinator data at this time (waiting for results of lower tiered studies)
- Larval chronic study already done by EU Task Force (Task Force includes two other companies without tebuconazole registration in US) - in negotiations; only tests to 50 micrograms...will run test anyway but may also submit this study too (depends on negotiations with the EU Task Force)
- Will need extension of about 3-4 months for 12 month studies; should be able to make 24 month deadline
- The registrants also talked about anticipating regurgitation issues (and thus delays) for the acute oral toxicity to passerine. We know from the other cost-sharing consortium that such issues have already occurred.

If you have any comments or questions on the slides or on the notes that we took, please let me know asap so that I can contact the registrant.

Best,
Jon

Hi Jon,

I'm not sure if you got my voicemail, but EFED folks have a conflicting meeting at 11 am, and I don't see any EFED specific items on the tebuconazole agenda. It seems like the registrant's study questions are only for HED. We are aware of the EFED studies and protocols submitted to date, but don't have any specific updates on those yet. If any EFED questions come up during the meeting, can you please let us know and we will respond via email?

Thanks,
Monica

Original Meeting invite:

Hello,

A representative for a group of several registrants for tebuconazole has asked for a meeting to discuss the status of data development for several guidelines (see quoted text below). I have asked for more details in order to develop an agenda and a more-relevant invite list. For now, I am including representatives from EFED (fate and effects), HED, and AD and am holding a potential time for the meeting on Aug 14. If you are receiving this invite in error or feel that someone else should be included, please let me know.

-Jon

"In the meantime, I will be in DC in mid-August. The chair of the Tebuconazole Task Force, Dave Olson, and I, Project Manager of the TF, would like to meet with you to briefly discuss the status of the studies as well as some general questions on the DFR study design. Would you be available the afternoon of Aug. 16 (preferable) or possibly anytime on Aug. 14. I could be available the afternoon of Aug. 15 if that is the only date that works for you. If none of those dates work, let me know and I'll look at alternate dates with Dave."
